Hundreds of students stage dharna for free bus pass

Mysuru, July 9 (PM&DM)- Accusing the government of reneging on its promise of issuing free bus pass to all needy students, hundreds of students from different colleges of the city, under the joint banner of All India Democratic Students Organisation (AIDSO), All India Mahila Samskrutika Sanghatane (AIMSS) and All India Democratic Youth Organisation (AIDYO) staged a demonstration at Ramaswamy Circle here this morning.

Stating that the Transport Minister had said that the Chief Minister would announce free bus pass in the budget, the students alleged that the government has failed to keep its promise, which has put the students, especially those from rural areas, into a lot of hardship.

Even the Deputy Chief Minister, following the JD(S)-Congress Government's Co-ordination Committee meeting, had assured that the free bus pass scheme will be introduced for the benefit of students, they claimed.

The protestors, who formed a human chain at the Circle, raised slogans against the government. They warned of intensifying their protest if the government does not take measures for issuing free bus pass at the earliest.

Earlier, the students from Maharani's, Maharaja's, Vidyavardhaka, Banumaiah and other Colleges marched in a procession from Field Marshal K.M. Cariappa Circle (Metropole Circle) to Ramaswamy Circle, passing through JLB Road.

Vehicular traffic was disrupted around Ramaswamy Circle for some time even as students entered into an argument with the Police.

Leaders from the three organisations Sunil, Basavaraj, P.S. Sandhya, Chandrakala, Akash and others took part in the demonstration.

KRS water level crosses 110 ft. mark

The water level at the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) reservoir stood at 110.40 feet today. This follows the incessant rains at the catchment areas in Kodagu District in the last few days and the release of water from Harangi Dam in Kushalnagar. The reservoir is likely to reach its full capacity of 124.80 ft this time. The water level last year at this time stood at 78.05 ft. The last time KRS was full was in 2013 when the then Chief Minister Siddharamaiah had offered bagina.

People's pre-occupation

Out of the multitude of pre-occupations of the land's people at large and their periodically elected representatives vying for (a) Tickets for contesting in the polls to the various bodies of law-making and administration, (b) Scrambling for a berth in the Cabinet of Ministers, salivating for unlimited scope for getting rich through unethical means, barring exceptions (?), (c) Lobbying for plum portfolios and (d) Cementing the pathway for prolonging this a-to-d sequence as it were, two frequently figuring obsessions are chosen for this column, namely, (i) Language and (ii) Caste. The pursuit of the cause of respective different languages, spoken by people of different regions of the country, has its origins in the Constitutional amendment resulting in the Official Languages Act 1963, correcting the Article 343 of the Indian Constitution which stated that the official language of the Union (the Nation) should become Hindi in Devanagari script instead of the extant English. The Act recognised 21 other major languages in India including Sanskrit and English, Kannada as well.

Hindi, often being glorified as Rashtrabhasha, is not the National Language of India, despite misconceptions among the people. The Constitution of India does not sanction any language the status of National Language. Eighth Schedule of the Constitution lists 22 languages. In addition, Government of India awarded the distinction of Classical Language to six languages namely Tamil (2004), Sanskrit (2005), Telugu (2008), Kannada (2008), Malayalam (2013) and Odiya (2014).

While (a) Antiquity of literature with recorded history over a period of 1500-2000 years, (b) Body of ancient texts and (c) Literary tradition free from another tongue happens to be the criteria adhered to by the Government of India to determine eligibility of language to be bestowed classical language status, allegations of discrimination against one or the other of the six languages mentioned earlier continue to be aired in many circles, including various agencies pursuing the cause of Kannada. The latest such voice, as reported in a section of the press this week, features Kannada teachers from five districts condemning the relegation of Kannada to the "Modern Indian Languages" category under the new choice-based credit system adopted by the University of Mysore. Suffice to say, the path to sustain the classical language status shall not be paved with staging public outcry but in creating classy literature.

Now, the other obsession, namely caste, which is the preoccupation of India's politicos, more so, those in public view in Karnataka, one cannot miss the drama being played by them, namely, talk against caste system while religiously adhering to the system in all their public acts. The people have chosen to be treated as suckers in the process.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

When it comes to adopting children, India has a clear preference for children below the age of two. "Couples feel that an older child will come with the baggage of memories and habits from an earlier family or experience of a stay in a child care institution. Some couples are also apprehensive that the child may not accept them as her parents. However, it may not be true as it's the love and care which makes the child connected to the new family regardless of age. — Ketaki Desai in The Times of India.

'Bring Your Dog to Work Day'

Bangkok: A digital advertising agency in Bangkok, Thailand is encouraging staff to bring their pets, especially dogs, to work, to help them relax.

Walking into the Bangkok headquarters of Adyim, a successful digital marketing firm, it's not uncommon to see young employees holding small dogs in their laps, stroking them with one hand and operating their computer mouse with the other, or even pooches playing on the table during an office meeting. In fact, company manager, Anankanat Kongphanich, encourages staff to bring their pets too work as often as possible, let them run around, and play with them whenever they have free time.

"In the evening, after meeting with clients, we come back to the office feeling a lot of pressure, and so we go staright to play with our dogs, stroking their heads, holding them, watching them run around. This helps us release some stress," one Adyim employee said.

Ghana's dancing pallbearers

Accra: Dancing pallbearers are in demand in Ghana by families to send their loved ones off in style and bring some joy to what is usually perceived as a very sad event.

Dancing pallbearers not only lift the casket at a funeral, they also lift the mood of attendees by putting on a show. They parade the casket on their backs and shoulders, while at the same time executing a complex choreography that often involves spinning around, dropping to the ground and even pretending to drop the casket, all to the delight of the audience.

It's definitely an unusual display, but families in Ghana are increasingly paying for the services of such troupes to give their loved-ones an upbeat send-off.

Swiping machines will solve change problems in buses

Sir,

Apropos Dr. Shyam Prasad's letter regarding equipping KSRTC Bus Conductors with ATM/RFID card readers (SOM dated June 29) which goes a long way to solve the give and take change problems in purchasing the journey tickets for both conductors and commuters alike, making the trips peaceful till the alighting destination.

Our money is also secured without the fear of pick-pocket, particularly so while travelling in long distance and night journeys where the to and fro amounts are high. Sometimes because of both road traffic outside as well as passenger traffic inside the bus, commuters are unable to receive the change despite written on their tickets and lose their money cursing the system.

Cocoon market in Mysuru not big boost for sericulture industry

Mysuru, July 9 (UNI)- The announcement of a cocoon market on the lines of the one in Ramanagara in the State budget by Karnataka Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy may not give a big boost to the sericulture industry in this region.

For, the places around Mysuru lack a well-established weaving industry and the cocoon markets largely depend on reelers who buy silk cocoons. Moreover, the cultivation of mulberry which is a prime source of food for silkworms has seen a decline here, according to industry sources.

"Another reason why a new cocoon market may not be of much use is that similar markets, though not on the scale of Ramanagara which is reckoned to be Asia's second biggest, developed at T. Narasipur, Hunsur and Tandavapura in the district were shut down owing to lack of patronage," argues S.S. Sadananda, former Joint Director of Sericulture, who has vast experience in the area of sericulture.

The market at Kollegal in Chamarajanagar district is operating, thanks to the presence of weavers with reelers from the bordering towns of Tamil Nadu coming there to buy cocoons. The markets at Santhemarahalli in Chamarajanagar district and Malavalli in Mandya district do not make noticeable transactions, he said.

The market in Hunsur was shut down with the taluk being one of the largest producers of tobacco in the State. "When there are no buyers, how will a market survive," Sadananda asked, on the logic behind announcing the market in the budget.

Minister for Sericulture and Tourism S.R. Mahesh, who hails from Mysuru, had said here recently that he had proposed a cocoon market for Mysuru and had asked the department officials for submitting a proposal for its inclusion in the budget.

A senior Department official expressed that a new silk cocoon market here was not viable. The officer added that the existing markets in the region can be developed instead of establishing a new one. The new market had been planned at a cost of Rs. 3 crore and Rs. 1 crore had been set aside for it in the budget.

Arguing that the government should focus on establishing more chawki (rearing of young age silkworms) centres, Sadananda said, "If the government really wants to boost the sector, then it should take steps for rearing silkworms and supply them to farmers. This will go a long way in boosting the sector since not all farmers are fully aware of the new technologies."

He said the silkworm rearing houses lacked ventilation, humidity and many were ill-equipped to rear them for the entire period. Silk farmers can as well buy 10-day-old worms from government-run centres and rear them for the remaining days at sheds or homes in hygienic conditions.

Raja Marga in a shambles

Ornate stone balustrades crumbled, dumped at MCC Office

Mysuru, July 9 (MK&DM)- Crores of rupees spent on beautifying the 'Raja Marga' with ornate stone balustrades and retaining its rich heritage, seems to have gone waste as the 'Raja Marga' is lying in a shambles.

The Raja Marga commences from Jayachamaraja Wadiyar Circle (Hardinge Circle) and ends at Bannimantap. With lakhs of tourists, both domestic and foreign visiting the city every year, the authorities planned to convert the entire path on which Dasara procession passes through, into a 'Raja Marga' also called Rajapatha.

The works on the Raja Marga commenced in 2011 out of the Chief Minister's special grant for Mysuru, out of which Rs.16 crore was granted for the first phase of 'Raja Marga' works.

Chhabria Associates, which secured the tender for the Raja Marga works, began executing the project in 2011. But the works progressed at a snail's pace for many reasons, with the works being completed till Ayurveda College Circle three years ago.

But this developed road has deteriorated so badly that it can no more be called as Raja Marga, with granite slabs on the footpath coming apart and the stone balustrades that separate the road from the footpath crumbling like a pack of cards.

The authorities, in a bid to 'repair' the deteriorating road, re-concreted the stretch but the tiles along the footpath have come apart, making it pedestrian unfriendly.

The Raja Marga, which commenced amidst a lot of controversy, has also ended with controversy, as the works have not been fully completed and the contractor washing his hands off.

Even as Raja Marga is in poor shape, the balusters erected at the edge of the road have been damaged by vehicles while parking and the others by some miscreants.

The damaged balusters which act as a barricade and the damaged tiles have been dumped at MCC Zone-1 Office premises.

While the 'Raja Marga' stretch itself is in poor shape, the footpath along the royal road is occupied by street vendors. As the footpaths are blocked at most points, the pedestrians are finding it difficult to walk.

Despite the road at the heart of the city lying in a shambles, the MCC authorities seem to be little bothered about the inconvenience caused to the tax-paying citizens.

Meanwhile, MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha said that measures will be taken to restore broken balusters.

MCC Zone 1 Development Officer Rudresh Kumar said that the matter is in a City Court and as such, no measures can be taken right now to restore the Raja Marga.

The main reason for the crumbling of ornate balustrades is that vehicles are found crashing into the barricades during late night, he added.

'Digital Property Card' protects Government, private properties

Says UPOR Planning Officer Prasad V. Kulkarni

Mysuru, July 9 (SPN&NNN)- 'Digital Property Card' helps protect one's property as it comes with a government guarantee to the title because the Revenue Department would have followed all processes such as surveying properties, mapping and hearing objections from stakeholders, said Urban Property Ownership Record (UPOR) Planning Officer Prasad V. Kulkarni.

He was speaking at the Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP) monthly meeting at its premises in Yadavagiri, here yesterday on the topic 'Property Rights' and said that with this scheme there will be a permanent stop to encroachment of private and public properties in the future.

It is to bring about this change that the Revenue Department has introduced UPOR and 'Digital Property Card' will be made mandatory for everyone, he added.

UPOR has been implemented by Land Survey Department, an arm of the Revenue Department, on a pilot basis in Bengaluru, Mysuru, Shivamogga and other cities. Accordingly, this scheme is compulsory for all dealings related to properties in Mysuru city, he said.

The survey of 42 villages around Mysuru city has been taken up under the project quite some time back. A majority of the ownership of public and private properties have been identified. Draft PR Card is being issued to the properties where the survey has been done, he said.

What are the benefits of UPOR?: To a pointed question by one of the MGP members as to what were the benefits of UPOR, Prasad Kulkarni replied that this scheme would help protect the public and private property owners from land sharks and encroachers.

There will be biometric fingerprints of both the hands of the owners and the Aadhaar card number will be seeded with the land records. Thus full information of the property including its background and dimensions will be made available, said Kulkarni.

The card contains scale map, extent and other details, including encumbrances and mortgage of the property. Hence, all the details of the property are available in one single document. The property is geo-referenced and thus the owners can view the property map through the internet. Also if there are any mistakes it will be rectified and finally the 'Digital Property Card' with complete details of the ownership will be issued, he said.

Litigations will come down: UPOR is the flagship programme of the Revenue Department and once fully implemented, various types of litigations on the properties will come down. Disposing of illegal properties will stop. Once the property documents are scanned it can never be duplicated, said Kulkarni.

Brake on land encroachment: The UPOR scheme helps in clearly identifying government lands. Since 2011 hundreds of acres of government lands that were encroached have been identified and recovered, he said.

For details on UPOR, visit http://www.upor.karnataka.gov.in

The Government has passed an order that in the future for all property dealings, UPOR NOC (No Objection Certificate) is mandatory, he said.

Earlier in the meeting, the controversial issues of multi-level parking on top of Chamundi Hill and the road straightening work on Mysuru-Hunsur Road near Jaladarshini Guest House were discussed.

Bhami V. Shenoy, S.D. Sahukar, S.S. Narayan, B.R. Srikantaiah, Asif Ali Khan, P.M. Bhat, Raghupathi, Gangaprasad, A.K. Krishnan, C.R. Ashwathanarayan, L. Murali, Dr. K.R. Joshi, Thomas Alva, T. Mahendra, M. Janaki Raman, Srimathi Hariprasad, Ravichandra Bekal, K.S. Narasimhamurthy, U.B. Acharya, Suresh S. Nayak, Major General Vombatkere (Retd.), K.S. Venkatesh, MGP Working President Dr. S. Shobana, A. Manju, Usha Narang and others were present.

No decision on Kurubarahalli Survey No.4 Property Card

As the Kurubarahalli Survey No.4 land dispute is still in Court, the distribution of 'Digital Property Card' coming under this limit is not possible at the moment. The government's final decision regarding the ownership of the properties in K.C. Layout, J.C. Layout, Siddartha Layout, Income Tax Department Layout and Alanahalli Layout has still not reached us. Till the order comes, we cannot take any action, said UPOR Planning Officer Prasad V. Kulkarni in reply to a question on this issue by one of the members.

Woman loots cash, gold after rendering housewife unconscious

Mysuru, July 9 (SBD&KS)- The incident of a middle-aged woman, in the pretext of seeking help, allegedly looting cash and gold ornaments from a house after rendering the housewife unconscious, has been reported from Kanakagiri in city yesterday afternoon.

The housewife, who was rendered unconscious, has been identified as 40-year-old Lakshmi, wife of Nagaraju, resident of Kanakagiri. The accused woman has decamped with 300 grams gold ornaments and Rs.5 lakh cash kept in the house.

The incident: Yesterday at about 12.30 pm, a middle-aged woman, who came to the house of Lakshmi asked Lakshmi to give her Rs.5 as she wanted to get the ear of her son pierced. Lakshmi, who told the unidentified woman to wait, went inside the room to get the money.

The unidentified woman, who followed Lakshmi into the room, allegedly pressed a piece of cloth sprayed with chemical on her face, which rendered Lakshmi unconscious. The woman then bolted the door from inside searched the almirah kept in the house and managed to decamp with 300 grams gold ornaments and Rs.5 lakh cash kept in the almirah. The woman then fled from the house.

Lakshmi, who woke up after about two hours, saw the doors of the almirah open and on inspecting the belongings inside, she found the gold ornaments and cash missing. She immediately informed her husband Nagaraju over the phone.

Meanwhile, Vidyaranyapuram Police, who rushed to the house, inspected the place and summoned the Dog Squad and Fingerprint experts to the spot and have registered a case based on the complaint from Lakshmi.

K.R. Sub-Division ACP Dharmappa, who collected information from the Investigating Officers, has instructed the Cops to intensify their investigation and the Police are collecting CCTV footages from cameras installed at nearby houses and shops.

It may be recalled that miscreants in the guise of MCC officials had looted gold ornaments from the house of one Leeladevi in Kuvempunagar recently and a con woman had cheated an elderly woman of her gold ornaments by giving fake jewels in exchange for genuine jewels near Gandhi Square.

It may be noted that miscreants who are using various ways to cheat people were targeting lonely women and elderly women.

Meanwhile, the Police have warned the citizens not to entertain strangers who come in the guise of seeking help or selling products. Special Police teams have been formed to nab the miscreants. Police have urged the public to inform the nearest Police Station if they come across suspicious people moving around in their localities.

A Mysurean Visits Buckingham Palace

By Girija Madhavan

There was detailed coverage on TV channels recently of the wedding of Prince Harry and Meghan Markle at St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle. I could identify Priyanka Chopra in a pale pink hat and dress, Amal Clooney, George Clooney and Sir Elton John among the guests.

The formal dress code for this occasion was lounge suits or uniforms for men and afternoon dresses with hats for women. The sight of all the stylish headgear of the elegant ladies brought back to mind a garden party in Buckingham Palace many years ago.

In London in the early 1970s, my husband and I were members of the High Commission of India. During the years that we were in London we went to two events at Buckingham Palace. First we attended a Garden Party along with other diplomats, noting the prescribed dress for the occasion. The sari saved us womenfolk from the problem of hats, gloves and frocks. The Indian diplomats wore Achkans; our Military, Naval and Airforce Attaches were resplendent in uniforms. A large number of invitees assembled on the spacious lawns. The Royal family arrived to the strains of their National Anthem.

Guests moved to white marquees where tea was served. There was "Victoria Sponge Cake" [created in honour of Queen Victoria] as well as other cakes and thin, dainty cucumber sandwiches with crusts removed. Fresh strawberries and cream with a dusting of powdered sugar, were a summer treat. Near the table, a cup and saucer in her hand, stood a beautiful Indian woman in a blue-green Kanjeevaram sari. I recognised her as Film Star, Vyjayantimala, and was able to speak a little to her in Tamil!

At the Christmas party, we filed past the reception line of the Royal family to the Queen who shakes hands with gloves on. A Namaste from me took the place of a courtesy [a bow] made by some Commonwealth diplomatic women.

Our next post was to Hong Kong, called "British Crown Colony" then. The UK transferred the sovereignty of the island to the People's Republic of China on 1st July 1997. At that time the Governor of Hong Kong was Sir Murray MacLehose [later titled Baron MacLehose of Beoch]. He and Lady MacLehose gave parties with varying degrees of formality [from White tie to Black tie] where our own National costume again came to the rescue.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were due to visit Hong Kong in 1975. In May that year we received an opulent red and gold four-folded envelope. The inscription read:

Her Majesty The Queen
And
His Royal Highness
The Duke of Edinburgh
5th May 1975
At the City Hall, Hong Kong.

Inside on a vermilion card was the Menu for the Luncheon:

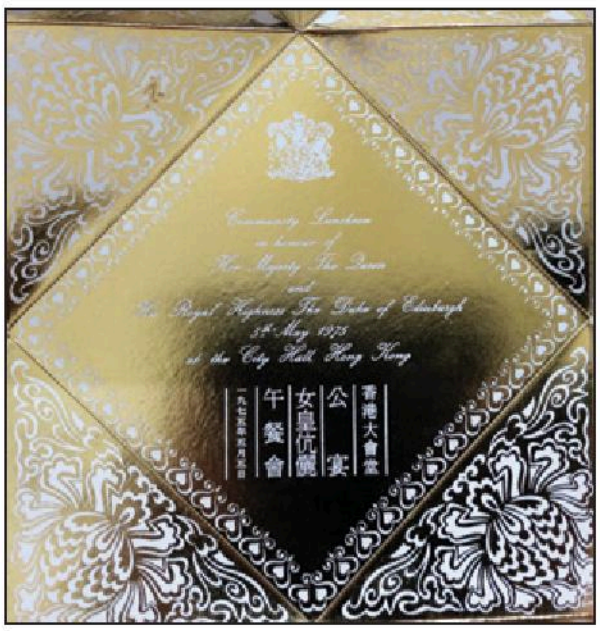
Girija with Sir Murray and Lady MacLehose in Hong Kong 1975.

Over the years, "Shark's Fin" has been a star item of Chinese banquets. Recently animal activists have protested against culling the fins which has meant killing large numbers of sharks.

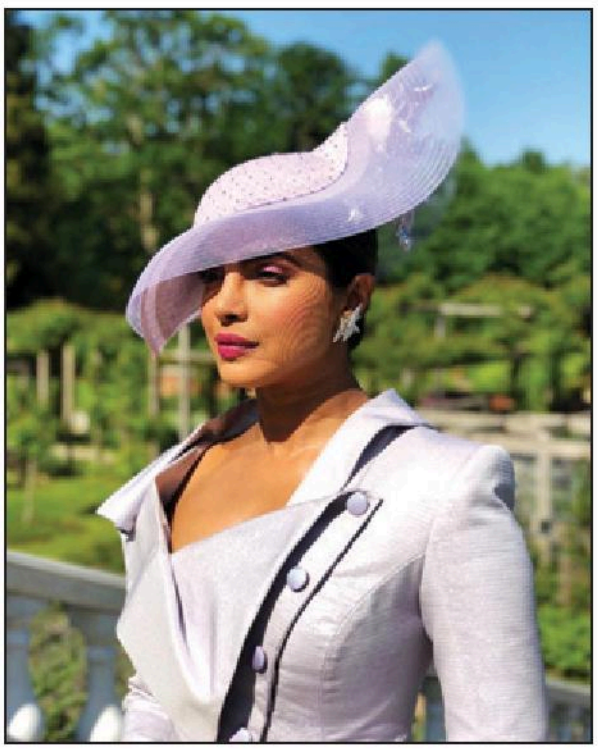
"Birds Nest" too is greatly prized in Chinese cuisine. These are the brittle cup-like nests of swallows or swifts, built by the birds with their saliva and abandoned after the chicks have hatched and flown away. They are used in soups and other dishes, prized as both exotic and expensive. They are found in places which are inaccessible and dangerous to garner. Environmentalists do not protest about their use as the birds have left these nests.

The tables were laid with silver cutlery as well as the traditional chopsticks, the food served in exquisite Chinese plates and bowls. Among the guests were English women in dresses, gloves and hats; Chinese women in "Cheongsams" [tight fitting high-collared dresses with slits on the sides of the skirt], opulent with glittering rings and jewellery, diplomats and their wives in their national costumes. The meal began and ended with the British National Anthem.

At such major events one of the Chinese invitees would be Run Run Shaw, movie Mogul and philanthropist. He had several other Chinese aliases but this name was most widely known, he popularised Kung Fu films with the star, Bruce Lee. A remarkable personality, Run Run Shaw lived to the age of 106. We attended a couple of dinners at his invitation; exquisite food followed by a show of the latest films in his home theatre. He once contacted my husband, A. Madhavan [who was then heading the Commission of India, Hong Kong], saying he was producing a new, macabre film and needed help. He knew we had many birds in India, including crows.



The Invitation to the Luncheon in honour of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.



Priyanka Chopra at the wedding of Prince Harry and Meghan Markle.

Would it be possible to obtain a large number of crows for a scene in his film? Madhavan explained to him that trapping and transporting these birds in large numbers would be extremely hard, infringing both Indian and Hong Kong quarantine rules. We did not hear from him again.

The British monarchy is relaxing its conservative conventions. Hong Kong politics have changed over the years. But the memory remains of glittering city-scapes, misty mountains sloping down to the South China Sea and boat masts making crisscross patterns at marinas. Oriental traditions cohere with opulent Western lifestyles here.

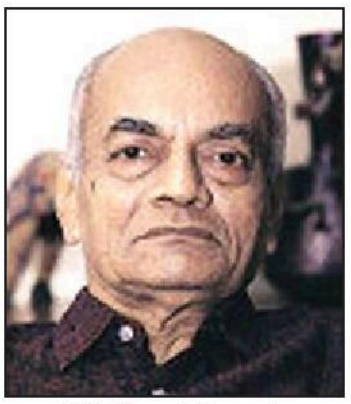
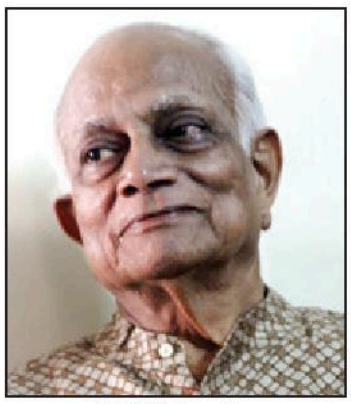
'Mysore Generation'

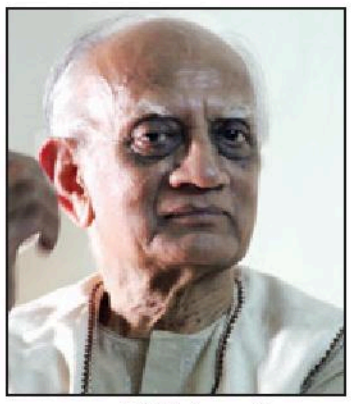
H.Y. Brothers Remembered



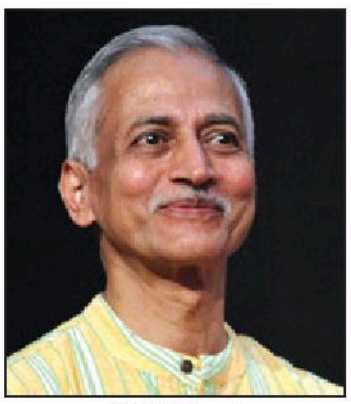
H.Y. Sharada Prasad



H.Y. Mohan Ram



H.Y. Rajagopal



H.Y. Mukunda

Neeraja Achuta Rao

Mysuru, July 9- Mysuru city has produced many illustrious individuals in the early and mid-twentieth century. Historian Ramachandra Guha dubs this line, which begins with R.K. Narayan, the English novelist, as the 'Mysore Generation' and in this bracket falls another well-known name H.Y. Sharada Prasad, an eminent journalist and former Media Advisor to Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and Rajiv Gandhi.

His younger brothers H.Y. Mohan Ram and H.Y. Rajagopal also fell into the same category of 'Mysore Generation' as they were the ambassadors of the Mysurean culture, one at New Delhi and the other at Philadelphia, USA. Both of them passed away this year — Rajagopal on April 2 and Mohan Ram on June 18.

Born in an illustrious family to H.Y. Saraswathi, who started the Mysuru Makkala Kuta and Y. Yoganarasimhan, Principal of Maharaja's Sanskrit College and venerable music composer, both the brothers grew up in an atmosphere of music, literature and academics. While Rajagopal was famous as the ambassador of Kannada literature in America, Mohan Ram was a celebrated botanist at Delhi University popularly called as the 'doyen of Indian botanists.'

Their sister Neeraja Achuta Rao, a noted classical vocalist, had organised a remembrance ceremony at her house in J.P. Nagar in her brothers' memory on July 1.

Speaking on the occasion, A.C. Lakshmana, former Forest and Environment Secretary, spoke about Mohan Ram's life and times. He said that in his student days at St. Philomena's College he knew every plant in the wild garden like it was in his own backyard.

"Mohan Ram as a student had the nerve to invite Sir C.V. Raman, who was already a Nobel Laureate, to the inaugural Science Club talk in the college. He, who was inspired by his mentors Dr. R.P. Singh, Prof. Bahadur Singh, Prof. Maheshwari and Prof. F.C. Steward, became an inspiration himself as an academician and as a Guru," he said.

He recalled that Mohan Ram had published more than 250 research papers on wide-ranging topics, the most renowned of which is plant tissue culture, a paradigm in Indian Botanical achievements and especially his successful cloning of banana plants. And as a Guru, a Professor of Botany at the Delhi University, he dedicated his life to his students, nurturing more than 150 doctoral students.

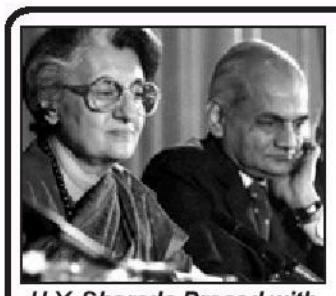
Lakshmana read out a poem written by Mohan Ram — I wish I could be like a Tree — which introduced the audience to both his (Mohan Ram's) love for plants and his principles of life.

Nagalakshmi Harihareshara, Editor of Amerikannada, remembered the contribution of H.Y. Rajagopal to the Kannada literati community in America, his relentless pursuit of literature and his contribution to her home publication.

Rajagopal was also the founder of 'Kannada Sahitya Ranga' and through his works earned the sobriquet — 'Amerikannadigara Hiriyanna.'

Neeraja Achuta Rao, brother H.Y. Mukunda (Biochemist, who runs a Diagnostic Laboratory in Bengaluru) and niece M.A. Jyothi also recollected fond memories of the duo.

The remembrance concluded with music by Vidu. Surabhi Pustakam who stirred the souls of the gathering with bhakti-filled Karnatak concert rendering Dasarapadas in moving ragas, according to a press release from H.J. Vighnesh, a student of Literature Studies, Ashoka University, Sonipat, Haryana.



H.Y. Sharada Prasad with Indira Gandhi

We Mysureans remember H.Y. Sharada Prasad, an eminent journalist, writer and famous as the Media Advisor to Prime Ministers Indira Gandhi and Rajiv Gandhi. But his two brothers, who passed away in April and June this year, too were achievers in their own way, though not as famous as H.Y. Sharada Prasad. —Ed

ORI to digitise ancient palm leaf manuscripts soon

Mysuru, July 9 (UNI)-The century-old Oriental Research Institute (ORI) in the city that comes under University of Mysore, a treasure trove of ancient palm leaf and paper manuscripts, is all set to digitise its collection and preserve them for posterity.

To be taken up in a phase-wise manner, the digitisation entails scanning and copying some of the oldest extant texts in Sanskrit, including Kautilya's 'Arthashastra' which was discovered in the ORI collection in 1905 by R. Shamashastry and first published in 1909.

There are about 30,000 palm leaf and paper manuscripts in the ORI collection apart from about 40,000 rare books of which 215 seminal works have been published so far to throw light on various facets of Indian history, literature and culture.

ORI Director Dr. S. Shiva-rajappa said that the project is expected to cost around Rs. 20 lakh and it may take up to two years for the digitisation work to be completed from the date of commencement. The Institute was in the process of appointing additional staff, those young post-graduates in Anthropology and Archaeology Departments of the Varsity, for the purpose.

Preserved for posterity

"Our objective is to not only ensure that the rare manuscripts in our collection are preserved for posterity but are easily made available to scholars across the world through download for a fee," he added.

"Scholars and Indologists working on different facets of Indian history and culture may not have access to certain works that may be with us. At present the only way to access them is through a personal visit which is time consuming," said Dr. Shivarajappa.

But once the manuscripts are digitised, it would be easier for scholars to access the classical texts. This would also help in dissemination of valuable information and bringing it to public domain, he added.

Important manuscripts at ORI

Some important manuscripts in the ORI collection, include 'Lilavathi' by Bhaskaracharya (mathematical sums in verses); 'Asvavaidyam' by an anonymous author and is a work on treatment of diseases of horses; 'Mayamata' by Manya which is a treatise on architecture; 'Hastyayurveda' by Palakapya which deals with treatment of elephant diseases, apart from innumerable works on astronomy, astrology, architecture, philosophy and others.

ORI was established during the reign of the then Maharaja Chamaraja Wadiyar in 1891 and was housed in the present building which was constructed in 1897 to mark the Golden Jubilee of Queen Victoria's ascension to the British throne.

Private funding

In addition to digitisation, the ORI has embarked upon publication of very rare works through private funding. It has identified nearly 20 classic works originally published by it and is in the process of printing about 500 copies of each work for benefit of public.

Of the nearly 70,000 works in Sanskrit there are repetitions or multiple copies of the same work and hence the ORI is taking up works of scholastic importance which have not been published anywhere else earlier or not currently available, said T.V. Satyanarayana and K.V. Ramapriya, scholars working on the project. The edifice housing the ORI was restored with funding by the US Consulate, Chennai, a few years ago.

Fund raising

The authorities are seeking additional funds for its digitisation and publication projects and plan to approach National Mission for Manuscripts, University Grants Commission, Infosys, TTD Board, Tirupati, and Dharmasthala Manjunatheshwara Trust among others.

Accidental Chief Minister must not present bogy budget

A budget, in simple terms, is a statement presented by the government (here Finance Minister) to the State Assembly or the Parliament outlining the government's probable expenditure for the ensuing financial year and the revenue needed to meet this expenditure. This includes proposed taxes to raise this money.

Karnataka's coalition government of JD(S) and Congress presented the budget for 2018-19 on July 5, 2018. The Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, being the Finance Minister also, submitted his own budget of Rs. 2,13,734 crore, refusing the request of Siddharamaiah to accept his budget submitted in Feb. 2018 for Rs. 2,09,181 crore and continue his projects and programmes. Since the elections happened in May 2018 the new Assembly, by not accepting Siddharamaiah's budget, as mandated passed the vote on account for three months. Now it is for the new government to follow its new budget.

The question is how good or bad this H.D. Kumaraswamy budget is? It is a curate's egg, say some budget pundits.

Last five years of Siddharamaiah government had neither economic direction nor healthy social purpose. Its objective was to appropriate available funds for building the vote bank for Congress party. So it doled out free or subsidised food items to the BPL and APL card holders and indulged in pampering the minorities, to the exclusion of the upper caste Hindus. For example, Tipu Jayanti was imposed on an unwilling majority. An effort was made to divide a harmonious brotherhood of Veerashaiva-Lingayat religion. In retrospect, I can say, Siddharamaiah, who got 78 seats in this election, would have got the needed 113 seats but for these unwise decisions.

Looking at the way Siddharamaiah went about his so-called egalitarian, social welfare schemes of grants and subsidies, it seems that in the long run it would adversely affect the economic development of our State.

I am reminded of what an American Journalist wrote about the Economic Incentives the US government had introduced to help the poor. He said, "We were just beginning to create the now famous Economic Incentives for husbands to desert their wives, for women to have children without husbands and for all sorts of healthy people to not work." This was the comment on US Programme of Aid to families with dependant children. Let it be. It is axiomatic that any programme that would make any section of the people lazy is not good for the faster development of a country.

We understand that for H.D. Kumaraswamy, an accidental Chief Minister, it is pay-back time. In fact his election promise of "farmers' loan waiver within 24 hours of his coming to power" turned out to be an albatross round his neck. He could not deliver this election promise in its totality though managed it partially.

Unfortunately, his budget has exposed him as being partial to the four districts — Ramanagara, Mandya, Mysuru and Hassan — from where he got majority of his 38 seats. This approach to governance goes against the sacred oath he has taken as Chief Minister. But rarely these rulers abide by the spirit and intent of the oath. Kumaraswamy can't be an exception.

Now look at some of the budget allocation for projects and schemes. The Hale Undavadi drinking water project, 4 kms up the KRS backwaters. The advantage is that water can be brought to city and 92 villages around it through gravity saving on pumping. The main pumping station needs 80 acres of land but this land has already been sold by the (greedy or corrupt) KIADB to a realtor and property developer, knowing that MUDA had already proposed a drinking water project here and it would need land. HDK's budget provides Rs. 50 crore. A joke indeed. If the sale of this land is annulled, the compensation to be paid will be more than Rs. 50 crore. Alternatively, the government may ask the purchaser to agree for an alternative land. All this exercise will surely delay the project to the point of abandoning it thus giving advantage to the purchaser! And that is what the corrupt in the government want. Thirst for bribe takes precedence over the thirst for drinking water.

By the way, the original estimated cost was Rs. 327 crore and this Rs. 50 crore seems, in the opinion of a politician, a mere expression of this government's intent, nothing more !

Now, consider the number of Universities proposed in the budget and for what disciplines? Film University, Sports and Body Building University, Homeland Security University, Tourism University etc. What about Kite Flying University? Making a mockery of the word and meaning of a University. All these disciplines could be taught as a designated department under the existing Universities. Like the Fine Arts College (ಲಲಿತ ಕಲೆಗಳ ಕಾಲೇಜು) where music, dance, drama are taught under the Mysore University. The Medical and Engineering Universities must inevitably be excluded. At a time the government is facing a financial resource crunch, unable even to appoint lecturers, why this kind of wasteful investment. I request our readers to drive or walk around the vast area of Manasagangothri where many new and old buildings are abandoned like ghost houses.

Now talk of creating a Disneyland at Brindavan Gardens in KRS. I have seen three Disneylands including the one in Tokyo, Japan, known as Disney World. Is the land available at KRS enough for an ambitious project like this? Is it safe to have a Disneyland under the menacing, intimidating massive dam with water gushing from its crest gates, specially during monsoon? It is as ridiculous as Modi saying he would make Mysuru like Paris. Irresponsible statement and we gullible people believe these utterances. The budget allocated for Kumaraswamy's Disneyland is Rs. 5 crore. Impossible. But, a Kumaranna's fan tells me it is only for preparing the Project Report. So be it.

Our city has an industrial area — Hebbal Industrial Area. As years pass, we find more and more residential colonies mushrooming here nudging out many industries considered polluting ones. Soon, we may need an Industrial Township Authority of Mysuru or Hebbal, taking the area out of MUDA, KIADB and Mysuru City Corporation. Has this government any solution for this problem?

If this kind of budget is presented in the future, Karnataka will face the danger of a split — as Old Mysuru and North Karnataka — just as the split of Andhra Pradesh, paradoxically a State that was the cause for the formation of the Linguistic States. We are warned.

Chennai-Mysuru flights evoke good response

Mysuru, July 9 (UNI) - The flight services between Chennai and Mysuru has been receiving very good response and the Union government's UDAAN scheme, which began from April this year, has met with good success in this sector.

The circuit is logging 90 per cent occupancy from both the sides — from Mysuru to Chennai and Chennai to Mysuru. The reason for good response is the existing flexible timing. Not only the businessmen and corporate officials have started using the flights at regular intervals, but even tourists have started to use these flights frequently.

Since the launch of the commercial flights' operation from Mysuru, this is for the first time that such response and demand has been created. Every day the flight to Chennai from Mysuru departs at 7.55 pm and reaches Chennai at 8.55 pm and from Chennai it departs at 6.20 pm and reaches Mysuru at 7.35pm.

Earlier, three private operators started the services but discontinued it owing to lack of fliers. This service is more viable than the Shatabdi train which leaves Mysuru at 14:15 hours to reach Chennai at 22:00 hours.

T.A. Gurunath, Airport Manager, Mysuru Airport, said that the scenario had changed a great deal. "Earlier, people used to ask if Mysuru had an airport, but now, people are gradually looking for connectivity to and from Mysuru. Apart from all this, the flexible timing is attracting more passengers for Mysuru-Chennai flight. The working class and even tourists have preferred this flight. Since April, almost every day 60 to 65 people travel in the TruJet 72-seater flight from both the sides," he said.

National Lok Adalat on July 14

2,456 pending litigation cases, 929 pre-litigation cases to be taken up

Mysuru, July 9 (RKB&DM)- The Rashtriya Lok Adalat (National Lok Adalat) will be held in the City Law Courts on July 14.

Announcing this at the Video Conference Hall of the District Law Courts Complex here this morning, Mysuru Principal District and Sessions Judge Suresh L.K. Vantigodi said that the National Lok Adalat will be held under the aegis of the District Legal Services Authority (DLSA) as directed by the National Legal Services Authority (NLSA) and Karnataka State Legal Services Authority (KSLSA).

Mysuru Principal District and Sessions Judge Suresh L.K. Vantigodi is seen addressing a press meet in city this morning.

Pointing out that the July 14 Lok Adalat proposes for settlement of all civil and compoundable criminal cases, he said that the Lok Adalat is rendering services without any expenditure or fees.

He said that 2,456 pending litigation cases and 929 pre-litigation cases in Mysuru District will be taken up at the Lok Adalat.

Stating that over 2,000 such cases were settled in two such previous Lok Adalats, Judge Vantigodi said that there were 99,450 cases — both civil and criminal — pending in Courts across the district.

Noting that there were 20,000 cheque bounce cases in the district, with 15,000 of them in Mysuru taluk alone, he said that individual cases accounted for most number of cases while company cases were less.

Clarifying those criminal cases that attract more than seven years imprisonment does not come under the purview of the Lok Adalat, the Judge said that all those willing to settle their pending cases or pre-litigation cases can approach the DLSA.

Reiterating that the Lok Adalat is rendering services without any expenditure or fees, the Judge said, however, the Court fee if any paid in pending cases will be refunded if the matter is settled through Lok Adalat and no appeal lies against the award passed in Lok Adalat.

Continuing, Judge Vantigodi said that cases such as Bank loan recovery cases, labour disputes, Motor Vehicle Acts and cases, family disputes, atrocity cases, alimony cases and other civil cases and compoundable criminal cases (both pre-litigation and pending litigation cases) can be settled at the July 14 National Lok Adalat.

With many cases on money lending/ borrowing issues coming up before the Courts, he asked the public not to issue blank cheques while taking loans and advised the public to mention only the exact amount of the loan amount taken while giving the cheque against receipt of loans.

DLSA Member-Secretary and Senior Civil Judge C.G. Mohammed Muzirulla and others were present.

ADGP Bhaskar Rao directs Cops to reduce paunch

Mysuru, July 9 (SPN&NNN)- Concerned with the health of his personnel, KSRP (Karnataka State Reserve Police) Additional Director General of Police (ADGP) Bhaskar Rao has issued a circular recently to maintain discipline in their life.

Lot of attention is being given to the health of the Police officials. Most of the Police seem to have neglected their health and as a result it is showing on their stomach with them having huge paunches and have become the butt of ridicule of the public. Hence, the circular has been issued.

The responsibility of seeing that the paunches of the Police in the 12 KSRP Contingents in the State has been entrusted to the respective Commandments, said the circular.

Some of the KSRP Police are dying young these days due to various reasons. The experts' reports reveal that the main reason is due to their unhealthy life style and food habits. As a result it has become important to take care of their health. If they are overweight then it becomes difficult to carry out their work.

The ADGP has asked the Commandants to give the details of the weight of each officer and staff. If they weigh more than the permitted limit then they have to control their food habits, do yoga and other exercises to reduce weight.

Otherwise, disciplinary action will be taken against those who refuse to follow the directions, said Bhaskar Rao in the circular.

Mild tremors felt in Kodagu district

Madikeri, July 9 (PS&NNN)- Mild tremors were felt in Kodagu District in parts of Somwarpet and Madikeri taluks here today at 12.53 pm. The tremor lasted for just about five seconds.

The vessels and almirahs shook in the houses in Suntikoppa and Madapura even as people came out of the houses scared. However, no untoward incidents have been reported and life returned to normal in no time.

It may be recalled that more than seven years earlier, on April 27, 2011, the towns of Somwarpet and Madapura and a few other areas had experienced tremors for about ten seconds and walls of a few houses had developed cracks.

Second marriage: Woman drags husband to Police Station

Mysuru, July 9 (RK&KS)- A woman, alleging that her husband was getting married the second time, barged into a temple along with her relatives and brought her husband to City Police Commissioner's office here yesterday seeking justice. Later, she took him to Vijayanagar Police Station as there were no higher officials present there.

While the woman, who took her husband to the Police Station, has been identified as Savitha, the husband who was to get married is Rajachari, a native of Gaadi Hosahalli in Hunsur taluk and a Head Constable attached to City Armed Reserve Police force in city.

It is learnt that Rajachari and Savitha were married for 18 years and have two children. But due to differences in opinion, the couple are said to be living separately since three years.

Yesterday, Savitha, who came to know that Rajachari was getting married at Yoganarasimhaswamy Temple in Vijayanagar, rushed to the temple along with her relatives, where they reportedly caught hold of Rajachari, who was about to tie the sacred knots and dragged him to City Police Commissioner's office at Nazarbad here to seek justice from the Top Cop. As the City Police Commissioner was not present, Savitha, along with her relatives who had detained Rajachari there, waited for the Police Commissioner to arrive and at about 3 pm took Rajachari to Vijayanagar Police Station.

Meanwhile, N.R. Sub-Division ACP C. Gopal, who arrived at the Police Station, conducted an enquiry during which Rajachari told the ACP that he had obtained a divorce and produced the Ex-Party Divorce Order copy given by the Court to ACP C. Gopal.

When the ACP enquired Savitha about Rajachari obtaining divorce from her, Savitha is said to have told the ACP that Rajachari had taken her signature to get a life insurance policy done and she had not signed any divorce papers besides alleging that Rajachari had cheated her.

Soon, wordy duel ensued between the relatives of both Rajachari and Savitha who had come to the Police Station. Later, ACP C. Gopal told Rajachari to produce the original divorce copy given by the Court besides asking Savitha to prove her allegations the next day (July 9).

A Non-Cognizable Report (NCR) was filed at the Police Station yesterday and the Police asked them to come back with relevant documents to the Police Station the next day (July 9). No FIR or a case was registered.

Meanwhile, both the parties are yet to arrive at Vijayanagar Police Station today, when we went to the Press.

Vaastu-Feng Shui & Bio-energetics

Harmony & Space

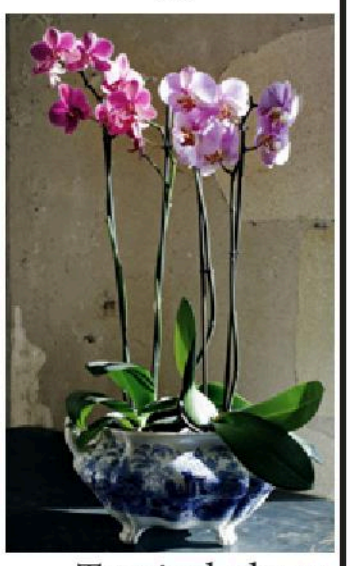
Feng Shui which represent wind and water is the science of creating harmony and prosperity through design and alignment of the space. It is said that when wind and water move gently on the earth, the planet stays healthy and vibrant. Similarly, a home which has harmonious flow of energy, creates a good environment for the occupants and supports those living or working in such a place. The ancient Chinese art of living in harmony with your environment can help spruce up the home or office and simultaneously create balance and joy. Feng Shui can offer positive and negative energies to flow through the home depending on the placement of furniture and the use of natural elements of wood, metal, fire, water and earth.

A common Feng Shui belief is that when your house number is hard-to-read or if the house has a blocked path or walkway leading to the door, it will prevent positive energy from reaching the home. Keeping these areas visible and clean is important.

Apart from the above it is essential if the home is cluttered, smelling stale, dimly lit and feeling cramped. Feng Shui propagates that the occupants life will be filled with obstacles and will have minimal opportunities for growth. This also has a strong impact on relationship, wealth and career as most of the human aspirations are inter connected.

By carrying out few changes, one can tweak the space and make it harmonious. Primarily, Clear the bad vibes that accompany clutter. Discard things that no longer serve you or are broken. Things like furniture, utensils, dresses, which are not being used, can be donated to the needy. This practice opens up your home so you have room to experience and invite newer things into your life.

Creating eco-friendly space is another important aspect of Feng Shui as it enhances positive flow of energy on earth. We give back what we take from Earth. Hence, incorporating green ideology into your home can positively affect your health, your family and future generations. It is a time-tested practice which we have failed to stay connected for a long time now.



Tropical plants and flowers are highly regarded as a Feng Shui filter of toxic energy in the home and are believed to remove the toxins from your home.

Having plenty of healthy indoor and outdoor plants are beneficial. They increase the oxygen levels and clean the air creating a feeling of harmony. Having plants which are tall and healthy in the garden signify a "living vertical wall" and this is said to usher in new opportunities and growth from Feng Shui perspective.

Feng Shui alignment and corrections can also be done by using flowers to alleviate wealth related issues. Flowers promote positive Chi in the home and in the lives of the occupants. Tropical plants and flowers are highly regarded as a Feng Shui filter of toxic energy in the home and are believed to remove the toxins from your home.

Most importantly, the colour and type of flower used for Feng Shui is important to ensure a positive Chi, similarly, the leaves of the flower are equally important.

Flowers, whose plants have floppy leaves that are round, offer more Yin to the home. Hence, creating the right balance with flowers, leaves and plants can help in channelising the Chi into the homes.

Rohit's ton helps India clinch T20I series in style against England

Bristol, July 9- Rohit Sharma made a stunning 100 not out to help India beat England by seven wickets in the third Twenty20 and secure a 2-1 series victory.

England, batting first, could manage only 87 runs from the final 10 overs to post 198-8 in Bristol, despite Jason Roy's 67 from 31 balls. Rohit shared an 89-run stand with Virat Kohli and accelerated in the final overs to put India in control.

He and Hardik Pandya closed out the match with eight balls to spare.

It was the highest successful run chase by any team against England in an international T20.

Three terrific catches - one from Jake Ball and two by Chris Jordan - interrupted India's chase.

However, Pandya took 20 runs from the 18th over - bowled by Ball - to put India ahead of the run-rate and turn the match firmly in their favour.

A lofted drive from Pandya, who made an unbeaten 33 from 14 balls, secured an impressive victory from India in front of a packed crowd.

India's Dipa Karmakar clinches Gold on return from injury in Turkey

New Delhi July 9- Returning to action after a long lay-off of nearly two years due to injury, India's premier gymnast Dipa Karmakar clinched the gold medal in the vault event of FIG Artistic Gymnastics World Challenge Cup at Mersin, Turkey on Sunday.

The 24-year-old from Tripura, who had finished fourth in vault event in the 2016 Rio Olympics, scored 14.150 to win gold. She had topped the qualification also with a score of 13.400.

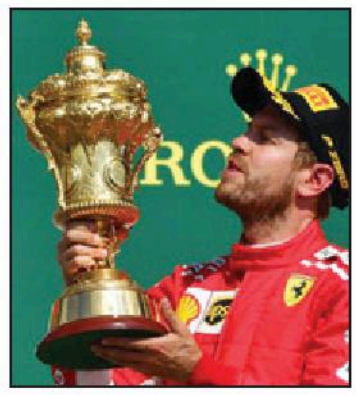
This is Dipa's first medal in a World Challenge Cup.

Dipa, who is being accompanied by her coach Bisheshwar Nandi, has also qualified in balance beam finals by finishing third in the qualification with a score of 11.850.

Dipa had suffered an Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) injury after Rio Olympics and had undergone surgery. She was initially confident of making a comeback at the Commonwealth Games but rehabilitation took more time than expected and she missed the Gold Coast event.

She has been included in the 10-member Indian gymnastics team for the upcoming Asian Games.

Sebastian Vettel wrecks Lewis Hamilton's home party with stunning Ferrari win



Silverstone, July 9- Sebastian Vettel opened a clear lead in the drivers' World Championship on Sunday when he wrecked Lewis Hamilton's home-race party and claimed an impressive victory in a thrilling British Grand Prix.

The four-time champion seized the lead at the start and fought back after losing the initiative during two safety car periods to register his second win at Silverstone and the 51st of his career.

Vettel's win for Ferrari wrecked Hamilton's hopes of taking a record fifth win in succession and a record sixth overall, but the Englishman — who was last after a collision with Kimi Raikkonen on the opening lap — produced a heroic drive to finish second for Mercedes.

His team-mate Valtteri Bottas, on older tyres, led entering the closing laps, but was unable to resist Vettel or his Ferrari teammate Kimi Raikkonen, who finished third. Bottas was fourth.

It was Ferrari's first win in Britain since 2011.

Daniel Ricciardo came home fifth for Red Bull ahead of Nico Hulkenberg of Renault, Esteban Ocon of Force India, Fernando Alonso of McLaren and Kevin Magnussen of Haas. Pierre Gasly was 10th for Toro Rosso.

WORD OF THE DAY

Slumgullion

Pronunciation: SLUM-gull-yun (noun)
Meaning: A meat stew.
Origin: Slumgullion may not sound like the most appetizing name for a dish, but that's part of its charm. The word's etymology doesn't necessarily do it any favors: while the origins of slumgullion are somewhat murky, the word is believed to derive from slum, an old word for "slime," and gullion, an English dialectical term for "mud" or "cesspool." The earliest recorded usages of slumgullion, including one from Mark Twain's Roughing It (1872), refer not to a stew but a beverage. The sense referring to the stew debuted a few decades later, and while there is no consensus on exactly what ingredients are found in it, that's the slumgullion that lives on today.

Example: The slumgullion was hot, savory, and hearty, and on this rainy night we were all eager for seconds. "She rode up a small dirt hill to a grassy clearing bordered by cabins, where she got a glimpse of the rock, big enough to seat at least a dozen campers, where she and her scouts had cooked slumgullion, a stew of meat and vegetables, over a camp fire." — Jodi Weigand, The Pittsburgh Tribune Review, 9 Aug. 2007

THE ODD WORD

Otiose

Producing no useful result, futile; being at leisure, idle.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Power corrupts; absolute power corrupts absolutely

Meaning: As a person's power increases, their moral sense diminishes.
Origin: Absolute monarchies are those in which all power is given to or, as is more often the case, taken by, the monarch. Examples of absolute power having a corrupting influence are Roman emperors (who declared themselves gods) and Napoleon Bonaparte (who declared himself an emperor).

"Absolute power corrupts absolutely" arose as part of a quotation by the expansively named and impressively hirsute John Emerich Edward Dalberg Acton, first Baron Acton (1834–1902). The historian and moralist, who was otherwise known simply as Lord Acton, expressed this opinion in a letter to Bishop Mandell Creighton in 1887:
"Power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely. Great men are almost always bad men."
The text is a favourite of collectors of quotations and is always included in anthologies. If you are looking for the exact "power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely" wording, then Acton is your man.
